

Down Memory Lane

You don't know when it happens, you don't know when it starts
It comes to you out of nowhere, and can break your heart.
It can be a Book, maybe a Film or a song
That brings you back to these thoughts that were gone for so long

It is suddenly there you can't fight it in vain when you're on for a trip
Down Memory Lane

You might step on some pictures, that you might find in a drawer
They came to you out of nowhere and can break your heart
You realise at this moment, that in the past how you were blind
It brings you back to these thoughts that were gone for so long

It is suddenly there, you can't fight it in vain when you're on for a trip
Down Memory Lane

Chorus: Don't lose yourself in the past, there's nothing to gain
Because these memories will only cause you pain
And if you go, you will live through each moment again
On a trip down memory lane, on a trip down memory lane

There's this voice in your head, that you can't make out what it says
Like a ghost from the past lost in time and in place
Just a whisper of static on a Radio badly tuned
Which brings you back to these thoughts that was gone for so long

It is suddenly there you can't fight it vain when you travelled so far
Down Memory Lane

Chorus..
